Fog-

This is a project I have been working on. Trying to get the word out...

Historic Wattles Mansion in Hollywood is hosting its first ever Interior Designer Showcase House !
18 local designers are participating , each room inspired by a film or star from Hollywoods Golden Era.
The house has been rehabilitated and restored and is looking pretty good!

The gardens are exquisite ,roses in bloom!

My favorite room is "The Birds but "Rock n' Roll High School is good too. So is the "Bridget Bardot" living room. One of the designers participating, Sandra Costa, is also doing the Historic Los Angeles Theatre in DTLA.

Lots of gorgeous fabric wallpaper and ceiling wallpaper too. Some designers have made extremely generous donations and have redone bathrooms and kitchen for the City .

Enjoy a look at the restoration that has gone into rehabilitating this old mansion. It was built in 1905 by noted L.A architects Elmer Grey and Myron Hunt.

Here are a few pics from my cell phone to give you an idea...

(plus we are haunted and the ghost stories are pretty good too!)

The house is up for another 2 weeks and then goes away on April 17 ...
